DONOR PRIVACY POLICY

The Regeneration Project Interfaith Power & Light is committed to respecting the privacy of our donors. This Donor Privacy Policy outlines our procedures for keeping donor information private and secure.

Use of Information

The Regeneration Project Interfaith Power & Light uses information about our donors only for our own acknowledgement and communication purposes at the national and state level. The Regeneration Project does not share donor information with any third party organizations for purposes of solicitation.

Collected Information

The Regeneration Project collects the following information from our donors

- Email address
- Physical address (street, city, state, zip)
- Phone number

Communication Preferences

Donors and supporters can opt-out of online and offline communications and solicitation at anytime. Please email us at info@theregenerationproject.org to remove your contact information from our mailing and/or emailing list.

Information Security

We use a secure database program to store donor and supporter information. All credit card donations are processed through a secure server that employs several anti-hacking measures. We do not store any credit card information.
